Press Vacation

We sincerely believe that the vacation cycle hits a small daily newspaper harder than any other business. No two people do the same job—making "doubling up" that much harder. And none of the work can be postponed or delayed until the person on vacation returns. You can't even wait until tomorrow to write the news stories and headlines, set the type, prepare the ads, or run the press. Vacation or no vacation, all the regular jobs must be completed today—not tomorrow or next week. Today, for instance, there are four people out on vacation—one from our bookkeeping department, one from the advertising department, one from the news department, and one from the mechanical department. In addition, news editor Ed Criswell is attending an American Legion convention and this scribe is handling the telegraph desk today—writing heads and planning make-up.

Such a time makes us a little envious of the business firms which close up for a week or more while everyone takes a vacation at the same time. We just don't have the nerve to try it. It might make you appreciate the hometown newspaper more...or decide that you could do without it. — Henry Harris in West Point (Miss.) Times-Leader

Faubus Gives Advice to Democrats

Associated Press Writer
LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Gov. Orval Faubus has some advice for the Democratic candidates for governor: Don't cheapen the party's nomination — you may win it.

"If they keep slinging things at each other the nomination isn't going to be worth much before long," Faubus said. "We've got Republicans to beat in November."

The governor, in a private interview with The Associated Press, said the winner of the Democratic primary could find the nomination a burden if it had been cheapened by other Democrats.

Faubus said name-calling among the Democratic contenders dirties the nomination and reduces its value.

"Why, I'd rather lose the nomination than to win it and lose to the Republicans," he said. "Who would want to be the first Democrat to lose to a Republican in a hundred years? Not me."

Faubus recommended that when one is called a name, Negro leader told a civil rights rally Thursday night their only hope was to save Mississippi—keeping quiet," he said. "I because there is no 'promised land' in Chicago or elsewhere. The thing to do in the face of these charges."

"But they might ought to open up a little more in the way of offering a program," Faubus said.

Since the interview, the Holt campaign has expanded its plans for a gubernatorial program; but Holt also has taken answers the charges fired at him.

Faubus said Brooks Hays has "wisely, I think" not fired back at name-calling tactics. "But he's promising a lot of things," Faubus said. "I think he may have hurt himself by promising so much. People are beginning to wonder whether he can deliver it all."

Hays said he can deliver it, making the best use of available federal funds and wise handling of state money.

There have been charges that Hays, Holts and a third candidate—Dale Alford—are backed by the same people who supported Faubus.

The governor said some people of his past administrations can be found in the camp of almost any of the candidates for the Democratic nomination.

As for his personal relationship with Alford, Faubus says: "Alford and I have never been close friends. But I guess our relationship now is about as close as it was when we were allied together in 1957-59."

GETTING THERE has become less than half the fun for airline passengers thanks to the strike by members of the International Association of Machinists against Northwest, National, Eastern, Trans World and United. Two views of the strike can be seen at Chicago's O'Hare Airport. A pretty stewardess, right, grounded by the strike, reads a paper and pays no attention to a picket while travelers, top photo, mob ticket counters of lines not hit by the strike. The machinists walked out on Friday and federal mediators say the outlook for a quick settlement is very dim.

No Promise Land at All, Negroes Told

GRÉNADA, Miss. (AP) — A Negro leader told a civil rights rally Thursday night their only hope was to save Mississippi—keeping quiet," he said. "I because there is no 'promised land' in Chicago or elsewhere. The thing to do in the face of these charges."

"But they might ought to open up a little more in the way of offering a program," Faubus said. Since the interview, the Holt campaign has expanded its plans for a gubernatorial program; but Holt also has taken answers the charges fired at him.

Two Less Murders Than Year Before

LONDON (AP) — Britain last year had two less murders than the year before the despite the abolition of capital punishment, Home Secretary Roy Jenkins announced Thursday night.

There were 153 murders in 1965 and 155 in 1964. Parliament abolished hanging as the punishment for murder in the middle of 1965, but no executions took place earlier in the year because the abolition was expected.

Hitler's Party Site Is Being Demolished

NUERNBERG, Germany (AP) — Dynamite, bulldozers and cranes are grappling with Germany's most monumental heritage of the Nazi era.

Ancient Nuernberg, once the proud site of Adolf Hitler's annual party conventions, has begun to tear down what he ordered built for eternity.

During the next 10 years, contractors and gardeners will turn most of the 2,500-acre convention grounds into an area of bungalows, apartment houses, parks and lakes.

Only the largest building, the party Congress Hall, is likely to remain standing as a most conspicuous memento of the "thousand-year reich" that lasted just 147 months.

German army engineers joined civilian demolition crews in blowing up six massive towers of travertine rock that were to ring the Maerzfeld parade grounds. In area, the 250-acre field was the most spacious of the party convention facilities. Like all of them, it was never finished.

Maerzfeld was designed by Albert Speer, later armaments minister, who this fall completes a 20-year-term in prison. It was to be the site of massed military displays and an assembly area for the hundreds of thousands marching past the Fuehrer.

Only 11 of the planned 26 towers were built, each 111 feet high. The plans called for 500 swastika flags, each 60 feet long, to be hung between the towers during conventions. Elevated tunnels of concrete connected the towers for easier movement of the banners and other equipment around the field—built to hold three million.

The towers are making way for a modern suburb. The community of Langwasser already has 15,000 inhabitants but needs room for 50,000 more between now and 1975.

Total cost of the 15,000-apartment Langwasser project is estimated at $375 million by Joseph Haas, head of the city-owned housing company which is in charge of the venture. The sum includes a shoestring $150,000 for bringing down the Maerzfeld towers.

Demolition of the towers cannot be completed until mid-1967 because part of Maerzfeld is still used as a parking area for U.S. Army planes and helicopters. The planes land on Grosse Strasse, the parade avenue of granite where Nazi columns once marched 50 abreast.

At the end of Grosse Strasse rises what Hitler once described as an "eternal witness" of the Nazi movement. It is Kongresshalle, a gigantic, horseshoe-shaped roofless building. Only two of the projected four stories lining the hall were finished when the war stopped all work on the convention grounds in 1943.

Honey Concerned About Veterans

MONTICELLO, Ark. (AP) — Charles Honey, a candidate for Congress, said today that it is time the nation became concerned about its veterans.

Speaking at an American Legion barbecue, Honey said that most veterans do not receive enough benefits to live on and that most are not able to get treatment in Veterans Administration hospitals because of overcrowding.

"This situation is tragic and must be eliminated," Honey said. "A country that will not defend its defenders is soon without defense."

Rear Admirals to Retire

OTTAWA (AP) — Two of Canada's four rear admirals have asked for early retirement and the other two are reported about to be fired or retired because of a dispute with Defense Minister Paul Hellyer over integration of the armed forces.

Rear Adms. Robert P. Welland, 48, and H. C. Burchell, 54, confirmed their early retirement requests Thursday night. Welland, who is deputy chief of operations at Canadian forces headquarters, declined to give the reason for his request.

Burchell said he fully supports the defense minister's integration policy but disagrees with him on how it should be implemented.

The other two rear admirals are William Landymore, 50, chief of the Maritime Command and the Atlantic Fleet, and M. G. Stirling, 51, deputy commander of the Maritime Command and commander of the Pacific Fleet.

Guards Told to Shoot, Rioting Stops

By JAMES E. DWYER
CHICAGO (AP) — Flying squads of impressively armed National Guardsmen and police restored relative peace today to the scarred streets of a West Side area ripped since Tuesday by racial violence.

Youthful gangs who had looted, burned and fired sniper-style from rooftops faded away Friday night as guardsmen — told to shoot to kill if fired upon — went on patrol.

Through the streets of a 140-square-block area rolled trucks loaded with soldiers, rifles at the ready, bayonets fixed; jeeps with machine guns mounted; police cars with shot-guns poked out windows.

Knots of Negroes lined curbs in some areas, catcalling occasionally, but there were only scattered incidents: one reported sniper shooting, with police returning fire but finding no one; a fire bomb thrown into a street outside a home; a few store windows broken; several fires in houses and stores.

By midnight, police reported, streets were virtually deserted. The calm contrasted dramatically with Thursday night, when an estimated 5,000 were abroad. Then, two Negroes were killed by gunshot and 30 were injured amid widespread shooting, looting and burning that continued into the day Friday.

Baptist Group Names Secretary

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Billy Martin of Nashville, Tenn., was elected executive secretary of the National Association of Free Will Baptists Thursday as it closed its annual convention.

Singapore Bars Outside Airline

SINGAPORE (AP) — The Singapore government has barred Pan American World Airways from carrying passengers, cargo and mail between Singapore and Manila, leaving service between the two cities exclusively to Malaysian Airways.

Singapore government sources said today the ban on Pan American is subject to renegotiation with the U.S. government. A spokesman for the airline said the company has taken up the matter with the State Department.

Votes Money for Arkansas Post Project

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Senate Interior subcommittee approved today a House-passed bill which would increase to $550,000 the amount authorized for development of the Arkansas Post National Memorial Park in southeastern Arkansas.

When the park was authorized in 1959, Congress limited the appropriation authorization to $125,000.

Stanley A. Cain, assistant secretary of the interior, told the committee Arkansas has donated the entire 221-acre area for the park and that all federal funds will go for development.

He said Interior Department plans call for a $138,500 visitors' center, historic trails and roads and other features which would cost about $550,000.

Arkansas Post marks the site of a fur trading post set up by Henry De Tonti, a French lieutenant of De Salle, in 1686. This was the first semi-permanent European settlement in the lower Mississippi Valley. It also was the site of the capital of the Arkansas Territory in 1819.

The Oldest Expression of Mankind Is Art

By MARY ANITA LASETER
Star Feature Writer

Art is one of mankind's oldest forms of expression. Even pre-historic man drew and carved on the walls of caves, and because of that we know more about our ancestors.

It has been said that an individual's needs, as well as his potentialities, may be determined through the use of the creative art method regardless of how inadequate his achievement may be aesthetically. True, but just as some people can produce music "by ear" though it sounds better with proper guidance, so the artist can achieve a better finished product with good instruction.

To fill the gap in art instruction, locally, the Hope Junior Auxiliary has obtained the services of a qualified teacher at the Arkansas Arts Center in Little Rock, and he will be in Hope to conduct classes for six Thursdays, beginning on July 21. The First Presbyterian Church Fellowship Hall will be the site of the art classes with instruction 9:30-10:30 a. m. for 9-12 years of age, 11-12 a. m. for 13-17 years of age, and 1-4 p. m. for adults.

The teacher will be Neill Whit Connah, a native of Atlanta, Ga. He received his Bachelor of Fine Arts from the Atlanta School of Arts and his Masters degree from the Newcomb Art School, Tulane University, New Orleans. He has also studied at Bartran in Jacksonville, Fla., and the Academy of Fine Arts in Vienna, Austria.

Well-known in the southeastern part of our country, Mr. Connah has won awards in the Southeastern Annual Exhibition, the Association of Georgia Artists, the Savannah Art Association, the Atlanta Art Festival, and the Phillip H. Giddens competition.

He is a new resident of Arkansas, as he joined the staff of the Arkansas Arts Center just this summer. Those attending his Thursday classes will receive instruction in charcoal, pencil, oil, and tempera.

Hope is one of 29 Art Chapters affiliated with the Arkansas Arts Center. During the past three years the Center has attempted to reach each one with exhibitions, films, and lectures. Many local people have taken advantage of the Artmobile when it was in our community showing fine works of art.

As part of the state service program, art instructors from the Arts Center are available to local Art Chapters with the charge for those attending classes kept at a nominal sum, merely to cover the cost of the instructor. In Hope the charge per lesson will be only 50¢ for students and $2 for adults.

Hidden artistic talent has been uncovered at local clothesline art shows which have been held the last few years during Festivals of the Arts. Art instruction in Hope has been void for some years now, so it is with pleasure that the Hope Junior Auxiliary announces the six weeks of summer art classes to be held here. It is good news for fledgling artists in our area, too.

U.S. Envoy Accused by the Czechs

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia (AP) — A second secretary of the U.S. Embassy was accused by the Czechoslovak government today of engaging in espionage and was ordered to leave within three days.

This was apparent retaliation for American spying charges against two Czechoslovak diplomats in Washington.

The Czechoslovak news agency, C.T.K., reported that U.S. Ambassador Otehrbridge Horsely was called to the Foreign Office, which protested to him "against the absurd accusation" against the two Czechoslovak diplomats.

At the same time, the U.S. ambassador was informed that George Edwards Reynolds, second secretary of the American Embassy in Prague, is misusing his diplomatic status for espionage activity in Czechoslovakia," C.T.K. reported. Reynolds was ordered to leave within three days.

121 Bombing Missions Hit Red Targets

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Wave after wave of U.S. planes pounded North Viet Nam Friday with a record 121 missions. They struck at three oil depots to keep up the intensified drive against the Hanoi government's fuel reserves and also attacked six missile sites.

Navy planes from the aircraft carrier Ranger evaded 10 Soviet-built surface-to-air missiles fired from a string of sites seven to 45 miles southeast of Hanoi.

In an attack on one of the sites, a Navy A4 Skyhawk jet was shot down by antiaircraft fire, U.S. military headquarters said. The pilot bailed out but heavy flak prevented rescue helicopters from reaching him and he is listed as missing. Loss of the plane had been disclosed earlier.

South Vietnamese headquarters reported heavy losses to a 100-man company of government troops when they were hit by a "maneuvering ambush" of five times as many Viet Cong main force soldiers.

A Vietnamese spokesman said the company was hit Friday on Highway 13 — a favorite Viet Cong ambush route — at a point 18 miles northwest of Saigon.

The company had been assigned to provide security for a military supply convoy. After the last truck passed the company's area, the spokesman said, a Viet Cong force estimated at a reinforced battalion struck from both sides of the road.

However, two Viet Cong hit-and-run attacks were reported within eight miles of Saigon. In one, the Viet Cong blew up a bridge with mines eight miles south of the capital. In the other, a Viet Cong force of unknown size attacked a national police station eight miles north-east of Saigon. They inflicted light casualties and damaged several vehicles, a Vietnamese spokesman said.

Officials said the MIG21s, the latest models owned by the Vietnamese, carry two types of missiles, one a heat seeker and the other a guided weapon.

They disclaimed any definite knowledge on whether both types have been fired by North Vietnamese pilots at their American foes. So far, according to official accounts, none of these Communist air-to-air missiles has struck American aircraft.

The MIG21s are believed to have been supplied by the Soviet Union. The MIG15s and 17s could have come from the Soviet Union and Red China.

The U.S. belief still is that the North Vietnamese planes are flown by pilots of that country, and officials said there are no signs of either Soviet or Red Chinese involvement in air combat.

Soviet Built Plane Downed by Israeli

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP) — Syria has admitted that Israeli planes shot down one of its Soviet-built MIG jets but claimed that Israel lost two planes in the battle Thursday.

An Israeli announcement of the raid into Syria Thursday made no mention of losses.

It said four Mirage jets downed the MIG which appeared while the Israeli planes were attacking tractors, trucks and construction equipment in retaliation for what it said was the destruction of similar equipment Tuesday and Wednesday by saboteurs from Syria.

Nepalese Return From Red China

KATMANDU, Nepal (AP) — Nepalese officials who returned from Communist China today said Mao Tze-tung appeared to be in good physical condition and walked easily without assistance.

They reported that the Chinese leader met a Nepalese delegation headed by Crown Prince Birendra Monday at Wuhan, in Hupeh Province.

Now the U.S. Recognizes Argentina

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States formally extended recognition today to the new government of Argentina, which took over by coup two weeks ago.

The State Department announced the U.S. Embassy in Buenos Aires delivered a note at today to the Argentine Foreign Ministry reporting the U.S. decision.

The question of recognizing the new regime of Lt. Gen. Juan Carlos Onganía, who took over the presidency in a military ouster of elected president Arturo Illia June 29, had been a difficult one for Washington.

The United States has followed a general policy of encouraging democratic, constitutional development in Latin America and frowning on military coups, but has continued relations with governments which held practical reigns of power.

Girl Moves Heavy Limb, Saves Cousin

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A girl weighing less than 100 pounds moved a 40-foot tree limb about four feet to rescue a cousin pinned under the branch.

When she tried to move the 150-pound limb later for newsmen, she could not budge it. "When you get scared enough, you can do anything," said Carolyn Horn, 18, who was called by neighbor children after the limb fell during a windstorm, striking her cousin, Walter Charles Williamson, 14.

She found him unconscious, the foot-thick limb pressing on his head. She freed him and the boy was reported in fair condition today.

BACHELOR FATHER

In the movies, the flint-hearted Army sergeant shows that he really has a soft heart in a crisis.

In a current real-life story, a sergeant's soft heart has created a new life for a little Vietnamese girl.

Three years ago, while serving in South Viet Nam, SP 6 William H. Nevens discovered seven-year-old Tre Thi Thu Thrum at a Saigon orphanage and his heart melted.

Before his tour in Viet Nam was over he had adopted her, giving her an American name, Dianne Elizabeth.

Dianne is now 10, a U.S. citizen, and having the time of her life learning to live as an American with Nevens who is presently stationed at Fort Huachuca, Ariz.

Nevens, a professional soldier for almost 20 years and a bachelor, has settled into his life as a father but admits that he's had more than a few problems learning to raise a daughter, especially one who spoke no English at first.

Raising a daughter is not quite the same as training troops, he says, but he's found that some of the Army techniques have been applicable.

For household chores the father-daughter team works with Army precision, complete with laundry and KP details. Dad does all the difficult tasks with Dianne watching intently and learning quickly.

When a mother's attention is needed, neighboring Army wives are quick to take over. In between they offer an abundance of advice on raising a daughter and are eager to take Dianne into their homes on "duty" nights when Nevens is away.

And so the Americanization of Tre Thi Thu Thrum continues, as does the education of Sgt. Nevens.

With Dad as guide, Dianne is learning to shop for values and nutritious food.

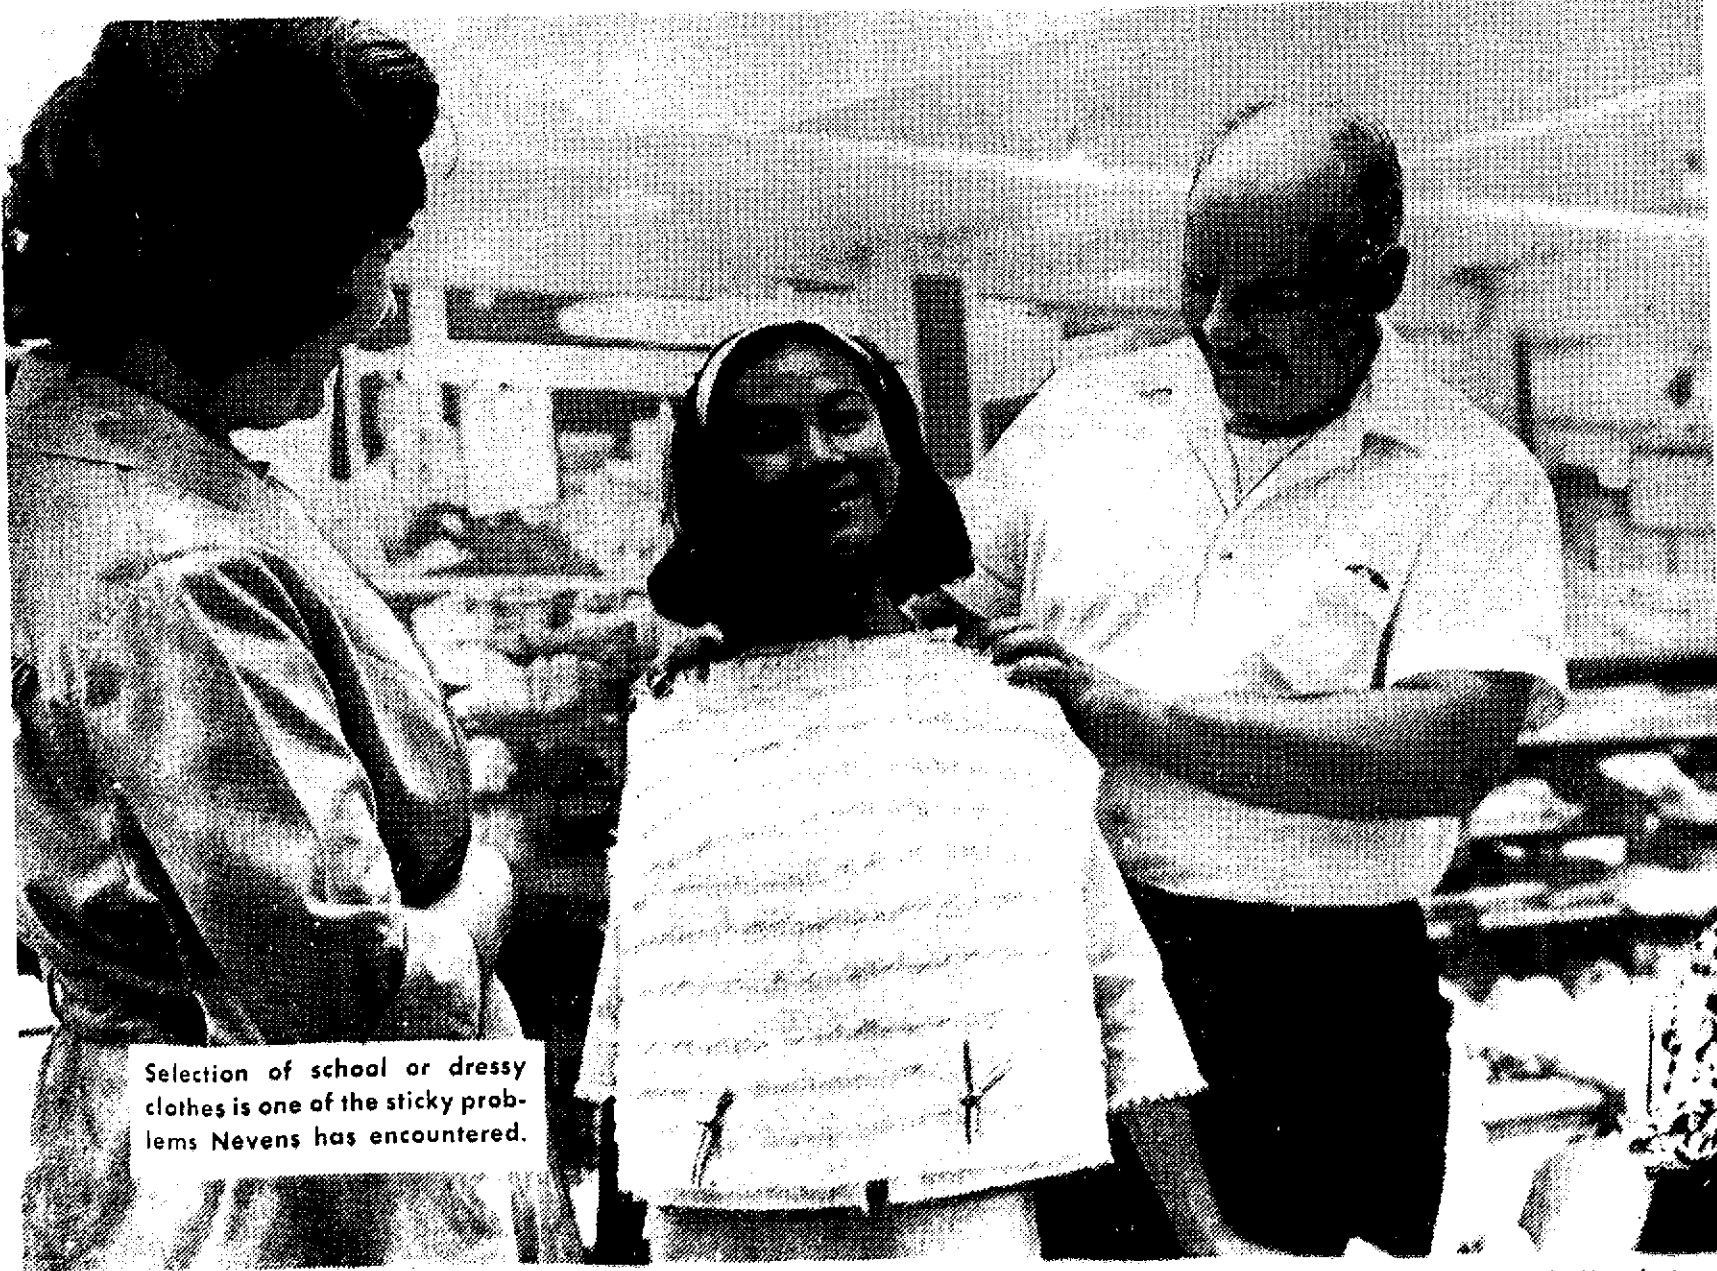

Dianne bowls at least once a week. She has a healthy 95 average.

Selection of school or dressy clothes is one of the sticky problems Nevens has encountered.

Both the telephone and Dad play important roles in getting homework done.

CHURCH MUST RELATE TO CHILD'S LIFE

LONDON (AP) — Flaws in church education techniques were pointed out by the Rev. Bernard Green of Nottingham in an address to the annual assembly of the Baptist Union and the Baptist Missionary Society. "Our teaching is that up to a certain point a child will accept almost anything we tell him, but if we fail to relate it to life, and it is not seen to be related to daily living, it will be forgotten later," he said. "We cannot blame children in not coming to the point of involvement within the church, if the church does not become to any great extent involved with them."

Richard Harris Is A Changed Man

By DICK KLEINER
Hollywood Correspondent
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Harris has walked off with the lead role of King Arthur in Warner Bros.' coming production of "Camelot." He dates the emergence of the new Harris to that event.

"Getting 'Camelot,'" he says, "did something for me. At the time I tested for it, I was at a low ebb in life. I hadn't done any work — any real work — in two years. I had been busy making money for the security of my wife and children."

"I got into many fights. But it seems I used to punch myself more than anybody else. I'd have a fight a week, about

RICHARD HARRIS

And then, he says, he realized that he had to live his own life. His family wouldn't be happy if he wasn't happy, no matter how secure they were. So he decided he wanted to play King Arthur and, for the first time in his life, he went after a role.

The odds were against him. Much bigger stars wanted it. It was to be a big budget picture and nobody — not even Harris — thought that Jack Warner and director Josh Logan would risk it by giving the lead to anybody other than a major star.

Finally, Harris managed to test for Logan in London. He spent weeks studying the character, the lines, the appearance he wanted to project. He even had a special wig and special beard made. He was ready.

Harris doesn't drive; his license was taken away from him permanently years ago. His one big luxury is a chauffeur-driven car.

"My chauffeur's only virtue," he says, "is promptness. He doesn't even know where Buckingham Palace is, but he's always on the dot. Wouldn't you know on the morning of the test he was an hour late? Then, when I finally got there, my wig and my beard had disappeared. The test was a mess."

But, obviously, Logan was impressed anyhow and Harris got the part.

Currently, he is costarring with Doris Day in a comedy, "Caprice." He's enjoying this; it is the first comedy he's done on film. He says he is more relaxed on a set than he has ever been. Besides, it seems obvious that the role

Most Famous Unknown

By JOAN CROSBY
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

NEW YORK — (NEA) — Because she is a woman who looks like somebody's mother and has a name that could belong to the average housewife, Dorothy Fields is perhaps the theatrical world's most famous unknown.

She is far from unknown in the business, celebrating, as she is, her 40th anniversary as a very successful lyricist and writer. Yet say her name to the average person outside the business, ask for an identification, and you will probably get a blank stare.

If you were to name Jerome Kern, Fritz Kreisler, Harold Arlen, Morton Gould, Sigmund Romberg, Oscar Levant and Jimmy McHugh to these same people, you would get a reaction. It is the fate of Miss Fields to have worked as lyricist for each of them, but not necessarily to be remembered.

Working with her late brother, Herbert, she has written the book for shows like "Annie Get Your Gun," "Let's Face It" and "Redhead" (for which they won Tony awards).

She won an Academy Award in 1936 for "The Way You Look Tonight," the Jerome Kern song for which she wrote the lyrics.

Presently, she is represented on Broadway not only by "Annie Get Your Gun," but also as lyricist for Gwen Verdon's big hit, "Sweet Charity."

Sixteen musical comedies and 22 films have had books or lyrics written by Miss Fields. "But I count a couple of shows that didn't come to Broadway," she said.

The musical theater has undergone drastic changes since Miss Fields wrote her first lyrics in 1926.

"I think 'Sweet Charity' is a good example of the change," she said. "The curtain closes just once through the entire show, at the end of the first act."

"Now there are all kinds of pieces of elaborate mechanical devices which eliminate

NEW YORK — (NEA) — Just as a hole is to dig, buttons are to close. And except for people who sew or those who buy custom-made clothes a button may mean little to the rest of us until it falls off.

Yet the button business is a $65 million industry. And after talking with Louis Gottlieb, who for 32 years has been designing buttons for Lidz Bros., Inc., anyone would be hard put to buy a piece of clothing without carefully scrutinizing the buttons.

In his wall-to-wall buttoned office, glittering here and there with pins he also designs, we talked about where he gets his ideas and who buys the buttons he designs.

"I go to France, Italy, England and Japan for at least four months each year," he said. "And I rummage."

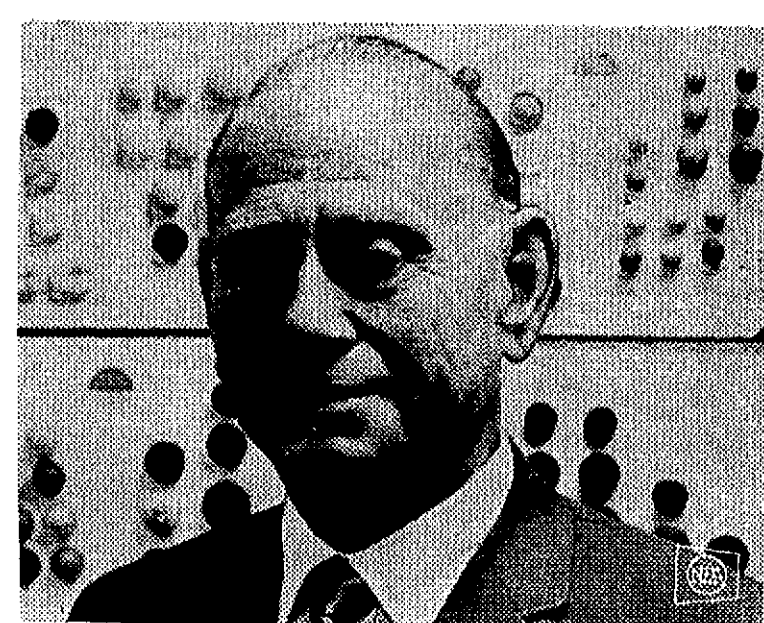

"I cover antique shops, couture houses, museums. Often I pick up an old button for $4 or $5. Then I copy it for about 30 cents. I find the most imaginative designs in Italy."

Buttons are different today from what they were 30 years ago. Then they were made of celluloid (which was flammable), papier mache, ivory, bakelite, mother-of-pearl and were all hand-fabricated.

Mother-of-pearl is still used on better-priced garments. But the other materials have been replaced by polyesters and acrylics and the majority of today's buttons are mass-produced.

An expensive button used to cost a dime. Now $1 or $2 buttons are not considered expensive. You can only brag about the cost when each little closing on your blouse has set you back $7 or $8.

Lidz sells buttons to the retail trade, but at least half of their business is done directly with manufacturers of clothes.

"The new fashions are so simple in design," Gottlieb said, "that designers are beginning to use a little trimming on garments again."

"Couturiers order pins for about $5 each, wholesale. They have to buy about 300 of them because when someone in the Ben Zuckerman price range, for instance, ($300-$500) shows a dress in his collection with a piece of jewelry on it, he has to ship it that way, too."

So costume jewelry is a big part of the button business. And the designs are handsome indeed.

The most satisfactory buttons, according to Gottlieb, are those made of casein—a by-product of cheese. This takes color beautifully and won't burn or melt when touched with an iron. But there's a hitch.

"It's expensive," he said. "We in this country don't use cheese by-products to make casein plastics and so these must be imported from such places as Holland and Argentina. When the factory runs out, there can be a four-month wait for more."

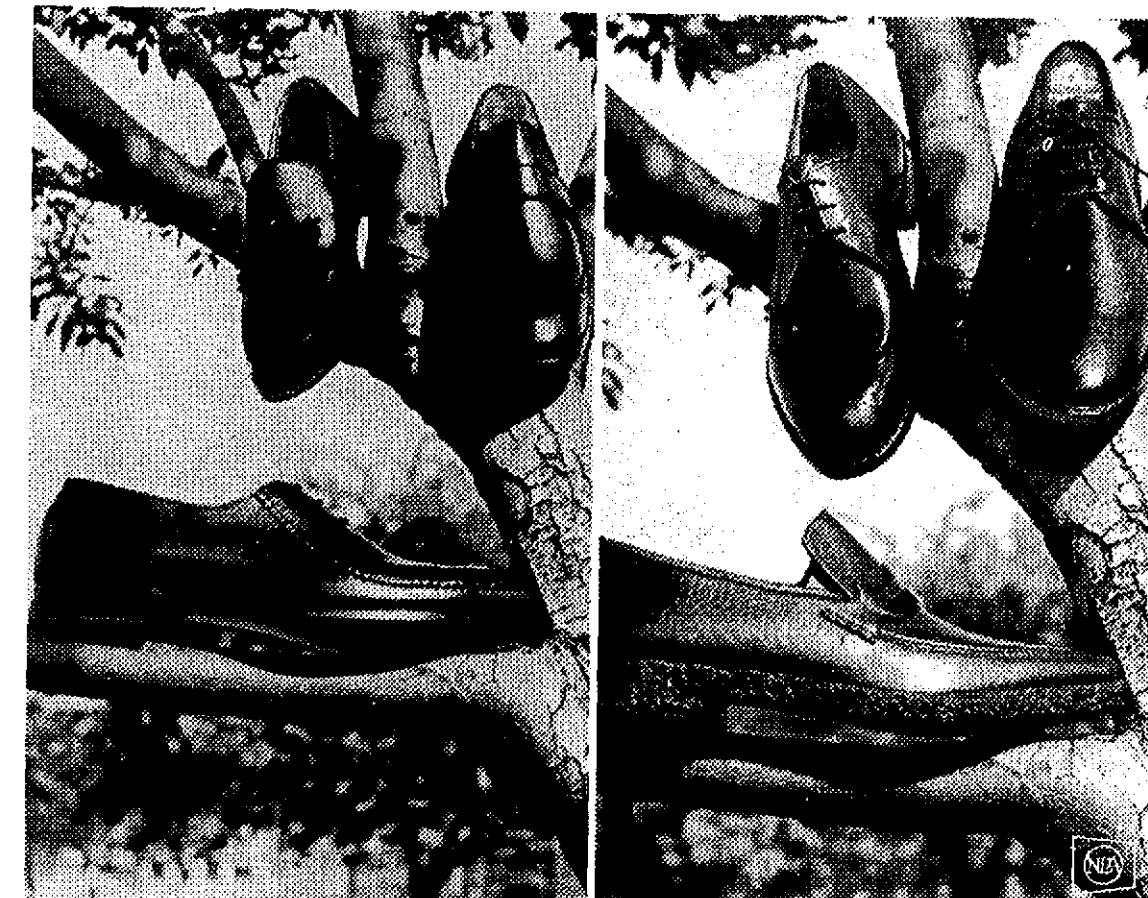

In the last two seasons the Paris fashion showings made buttons an important fashion feature. And there are trends in buttons just as there are in dresses. Right now, the trend is away from the traditional round button. Geometrics, flower shapes, cubes, squares and ball shapes are in.

Acetate spray-painted wooden buttons will be big for fall. And Gottlieb even predicts the trend for the '67 cruise and resort season—"pearlized, heraldic designs and hot colors done in a dull finish."

So even if you haven't lost all your buttons, keep an eye open for a new set. More than you may have realized buttons are "costumakers" and can date your wardrobe.

Popping Up All Over patterns. Keeping in step, the cosmetic folk introduce lip-lip. It's crazy daisy time. Daisies sticks in warm "painted-daisy" are popping up in sportswear, pink to complement summer sleepwear, dress prints and complexions, with some jewelry. They're even climb-frusted and others a pinkish lip gloss for extra shine.

The News Is Classy Summer Shoes

SHOES FOR SUMMER are bright, light and interesting. In top branches across, Bass Wejuns Scotch-grained tassel moc in black cherry; Wright Arch-Presever slip-on wing-tip with monk strap and elasticized topline; Nunn-Bush wingtip summer brogue; Freeman black-grained, 4-yelet blucher. On bottom branches, Bostonian 3-yelet moc, Scotch grain and Plymouth square-toed moc with wishbone strap. (Duncan Stock photos)

NEW YORK — (NEA) — Whatever became of those summer ice-cream suits, straw boaters and white leather shoes?

Nothing, really. The gentleman shopper can still find this once-traditional warm-weather gear if he looks for it and, in fact, all-white summer ensembles are enjoying a certain vogue in some areas of the country.

Unfortunately, the urban man can't get away with this outfit more than once a week. Otherwise, friends might refer to him as "the guy who wears those white clothes all the time." And white does get soiled quickly.

Summer shoes, once confined to white, white-and-black, or weaves, are now available in shimmied-down versions of fall and winter footwear. They're lighter in weight and color and look smart with featherweight suits.

Concept" which takes into consideration the girth at the ball of the foot. This measurement, says Jarman, is at least of equal importance to the other two.

BARBS

By WALTER C. PARKES

Overworked husbands are our main source of widows.

When a fellow calls his girl "Honey" he doesn't suspect that after marriage she'll keep him busy as a bee.

When a hot-rodder invites you for a ride, you may be in for a bang-up time.

Why are some folks so morbid that if they have no ailments of their own, they gab about those of their relatives?

Setting the pace are handsome slip-ons, moccasins, oxfords and brogues crafted of leathers that are tough yet whittled down in weight. These lean leathers include smooth, grained, brushed, suede, waxed and embossed textures.

Slip-ons, while casual, are also proper during the business day and on into the evening. The traditional penny loafer, long loved on the campus, is, however, a bit too collegiate to be worn in the city.

Slip-ons have been made dressier by detailing: meditation or wing tips, goring, high-cut tongues and wishbone straps, a welcome Italian innovation.

The best shoe news is the introduction of interesting colors. Standard blacks and browns are still available, but why be confined to these rather unimaginative colors when you can buy tones in gold and green, black cherry burgundy, blue, dull orange

SUN-MON- at DIXIE

Elizabeth Taylor and Richard Burton in a romantic beach interlude of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's "The Sandpiper," an engrossing drama of an unconventional woman who falls in love with a married man of conservative background. Eva Marie Saint also stars in the Martin Ransohoff Production, filmed in Panavision and color largely on locations in the magnificent Big Sur country on the northern coast of California, and directed by Academy Award-winner Vincente Minnelli.

TUES-WED SAENGER

Stuart Whitman, who has escaped from a hospital for the criminally insane, strikes Joanne Woodward when she attempts to telephone for the police in a tense scene from Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's new shocker, "Signpost to Murder." The picture is based on the mystery play which held London theatergoers spellbound for more than a year. George England directed.

God's Word Says Come

Come let us go into the House of the Lord

THE MAN who has no Faith in God, nor any human being is dead as a cinder... he has spiritual leukemia. Faith is the root of all blessing. Faith can light up your soul in the darkest night.

HOPE is our highest expectation of good. Surely, Hope maintains most mankind. Hope must be the tie that keeps the heart from breaking. Hope is a carpet along the road man must walk to the Glory Land.

LOVE, the greatest of the three. Love suffers long and is gentle; love never fails. Surely love must be the crowning grace. You will find these spiritual vitamins at your church... don't miss a service.

This Page Is Made Possible By These Hope Business Firms Who Realize The Importance of Our Churches In The Lives of Our People They Urge You and Your Family to Attend Church This Week So, "Come, Let Us Go Into the House of the Lord."

By ART SANSOM

Varnish, which dates back to prehistoric times, comes from a tree found in China and Japan. It yields a milky juice from which varnish or lacquer is prepared. The name itself comes from the corruption of the name of an Egyptian queen. Ptolemy III gave this name to a certain kind of resin then used because it matched the color of the hair of his queen.

Cepeda Hot Both Ways, Cards Win

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

When Orlando Cepeda is in a hitting mood, only the umpires can get him out.

The Cincinnati Reds weren't having much luck with the big St. Louis slugger Friday night until Umpire John Kibler interceded in the seventh inning of the Cardinals' 9-2 victory.

Cepeda was called out on a close play at first base and when he argued over the call, Kibler tossed him out of the ball game.

By then, the damage was done. Cepeda had whacked his 12th and 13th homers of the season and lifted his batting average to .324, fourth best in the National League.

The Cardinal first baseman, who came from San Francisco in the trade for Ray Sadecki, is on an 11-for-20 tear at the plate and seems completely recovered from the eye injury which sidelined him for two weeks last month.

Cepeda was struck by a batting practice line drive June 10. He returned to the line-up June 24, and in the three weeks since then he's had 25 hits in 73 at bats — a .342 pace.

In addition to costing the Reds the ball game, Cepeda cost Cincinnati pitcher Sammy Ellis $50.

After Cepeda's second homer in the fifth inning, Ellis decked Mike Shannon with a pitch. Plate Umpire Paul Pryor warned Ellis about the duster, and that calls for an automatic $50 fine.

Pinch Hitting Hurler Wins for Detroit

By RON RAPOPORT

Associated Press Sports Writer

Who says a pitcher's place is on the mound? Not Earl Wilson. Six hurlers performed for the Detroit Tigers Friday during their 8-5 victory over Baltimore, but only five were to be found in their normal environs in the center of the diamond.

The sixth, Wilson, made his contribution at the plate with a pinch-hit, three-run, 13th-inning, two-out (that about covers it) home run.

Bill Monbouquette, who worked the four final innings perfectly, got the victory, while Stu Miller, who was the last of the mere three pitchers Baltimore used, took the loss. Monbouquette's performance had the added dimension of his twice having faced both Frank and Brooks Robinson and Boog Powell without a mistake.

It was the American League leading Orioles' fourth loss in a row and their second straight to the Tigers who have climbed to within six games of first place. Don Wert sent the game into overtime with a two-run single with two outs in the ninth.

In other American League games, Minnesota edged Washington 5-4, Kansas City came from behind to get New York 5-4, Chicago beat Cleveland 4-2 and California nudged Boston 4-2.

In National League games, Los Angeles beat New York 4-3, San Francisco smashed Philadelphia 8-1, Chicago edged Pittsburgh 5-4 and St. Louis bounced Cincinnati 9-2. Houston and Atlanta were rained out.

Wilson, who like Monbouquette came to Detroit from Boston, added to his modest reputation as a hitter. The hom run was his third for the year and he has 10 runs batted in as well as a batting average, .280, that many full-time hitters might envy.

Minnesota's Don Mincher broke open a tie ball game with a run-scoring single in the eighth inning after two were out. Harmon Killebrew, who had singled, scored the decisive run.

Bayer Hits Tee Shots 360 Yards

By FRANK ECK

AP Newsfeatures Sports Editor

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Big George Bayer is driving his tee shots 360 yards and says there's no trick to it, except that he's doing it 6,500 feet above sea level.

Bayer, who is 5-foot-6 and "down" to 245 pounds, is the golf pro at the Incline Village Country Club, Lake Tahoe, Nev., where eight Oklahomans put up $150,000 each, bought 9,000 acres and built a public course.

"It's 7,180 yards," says Bayer. "But at 6,500 feet it plays like 6,700 yards. I hit a drive in the air one day and it seems like it would stay up forever. It measured 930 yards."

Bayer took the job three years ago and this marks his second summer off the PGA tour.

"After 11 years on tour," says Bayer. "I thought it would be a good idea to take a summer job and be with the family for a few months at least."

He and his wife Beverly have four children, twin daughters, Cynthia and Catherine, 14, Sherrie, 12, and son Gregg, 6.

"When school starts in the fall we'll head back to Los Angeles," says Bayer. "Next year the twins will be in high school and in four years they'll be gone and I'd hardly know them if I played 30 to 32 tournaments a year like I was doing."

"I can't complain about golf but the tour kept me away from home. I'll be playing enough in the winter when there's 6 to 8 feet of snow in Nevada."

"Unless you're a Palmer or a Nicklaus what do you have after your playing days are gone? When you get older you get more complacent. I'm 41 now, I tre."

"A woman does manage the theatre," said Paul Kerr, DiMaggio took it good naturedly. The next morning Mrs. John

Bayer has won almost $200,000 in his 11 years on tour, saved what he could and is in three business ventures.

His best showing this year came in the Masters, a 303 score worth $1,150. His 301 in the recent Open here got him $305.

George Bayer would like to play in a few of the summer's $100,000 tournaments but his big kick now is his family—and driving a golf ball 360 yards.

Will Tape Stengel's Speech

By FRANK ECK

AP Newsfeatures Sports Editor

Casey Stengel and Ted Williams will soon make what figures to be their last baseball headlines. They will be inducted into the Hall of Fame at Cooperstown, N.Y., on July 25.

Will Casey or Ted have difficulty making a speech? Not if Paul S. Kerr can help it.

When a man is about to enter the most famous building in the picturesque village on Lake Ossago he is asked to appear in town a few days before the actual ceremonies.

This is done so that Paul Kerr, president of the Hall of Fame, may show them around and make them feel at home. Since 1943 Kerr has been an officer or director of the shrine conceived by the late Stephen C. Clark and dedicated in 1939. Kerr is vice president of the Clark Estates and many of his off hours are dedicated to baseball and the shrine.

Both Casey and Williams have been there before. In fact, Ted played there in 1955 when one of his foul line drives almost broke the arm of a fireman who tried to catch the ball. It was the day Joe DiMaggio was inducted.

DiMaggio never was one to make a speech so on the eve of induction Paul Kerr drove him around town, a sort of VIP treatment. As we passed the town's one motion picture house the marquee lights read:

"Marilyn Monroe in The Seven Year Itch."

Once she had been Mrs. DiMaggio, and this writer's wife said:

"Look Joe, they're capitalizing on you."

"Yes," replied DiMaggio. "A woman probably runs the theatre."

"A woman does manage the theatre," said Paul Kerr, DiMaggio took it good naturedly. The next morning Mrs. John

Casey will go on and on and Hall of Fame director Kenny Smith will record for posterity Stengel's speech. Years from now people will listen to it at Cooperstown and come away with one expression:

"He was great, but what did he say?"

Chances are Ted Williams will speak first on July 25. Casey is too tough an act to follow, even for a cleanup hitter like Williams.

McGraw came up to DiMaggio and said:

"Joe, I'm Mrs. McGraw, I've never met you but I've read about all the fine things you've done and I just wanted to shake your hand."

"It was one of the nicest things that ever happened to me," said DiMaggio. Everyone at Cooperstown made Joe D feel right at home and his acceptance speech was greeted with constant applause.

Casey Stengel and Ted Williams, if Paul Kerr takes them through the Hall on the eve of the ceremonies when the building is closed to the public, will get a thorough look at all the baseball memorabilia. Such a leisurely tour will give them all the ammunition they need for a speech.

"Babe Ruth," Casey might say when he sees the home run champion's plaque. "I played against him in the 1923 World Series. I hit a home run to win the first game, Ruth hit two for the Yankees, then I hit a home run in the third game and won it 1-0. But Ruth got all the vaudeville bookings that winter. He hit a home run in the last game and the Yankees won the World Series."

"There was Grover Cleveland Alexander's plaque. This man won 373 games and I had to hit against him. In 1916 I hit only .279 but I can't complain. That was the year Alexander won 33 games for the Phillies."

"And Burleigh Grimes. He played in Brooklyn and other places but he always seemed to be pitching against me, and using that pitch they call unsanitary today—the spitball. He had a great one."

"This is quite a parlay—getting into this building with Ted Williams. Look what he had to do, hit .400. And when he was batting you didn't need an umpire. If Williams didn't swing it was a ball because he made a study of hitting and he hit a few out."

Casey will go on and on and Hall of Fame director Kenny Smith will record for posterity Stengel's speech. Years from now people will listen to it at Cooperstown and come away with one expression:

Syndication of Horses Spreads the Risk

By FRANK ECK

That record $2,520,000 deal for Kentucky Derby and Preakness winner Kauai King has focused attention on the interesting American development of syndication of thoroughbred race horses for breeding purposes.

An explanation is in order. Syndication is simply a method of "spreading the risk" among a number of owners by selling between 25 and 40 shares (in Kauai King's case it was 36 at $70,000 each) in the stallion-to-be. Each share represents a service for a mare to the stallion.

The system was developed almost 20 years ago by Leslie Combs II, the master of Kentucky's Spendthrift Farm and racing's No. 1 salesman.

If there is an accident, such as Kauai King's pulled suspensory ligament in his left foreleg, or the stallion proves a mediocre sire then no individual has lost the family jewels. Anyway, syndication is a thing for those willing to gamble for a classic horse. It takes 4 to 5 years for a stallion to prove himself.

Multi-ownership enables an individual breeder to have access to several outstanding stallions for his mares without having to buy a sire of his own. Combs, for example, has shares in more than a dozen leading stallions.

Combs' first syndicated sire was Beau Pere whom the Kentuckian bought from the late Louis B. Mayer for $100,000 in 1947. That deal backfired because Beau Pere died in Lexington, Ky., a few months after arriving from California.

Combs was unfazed and in 1948 he obtained Alibhai from Mayer for $500,000.

Combs recently figured in the $1,200,000 syndication of Millard Waldheim's fine colt Creme dela Creme, second to Buckpasser in the Arlington Classic.

In a February, 1965 package deal, John W. Gaines syndicated Prove It, Olden Times and Candy Spots for $3,750,000.

The most famous horse deal of all involved Nashua, obtained by Combs for $1,271,200 in a sealed bid in December, 1955. Combs arranged the bid over the telephone with John W. Hanes and the late C.J. Devine.

The three men decided Nashua was worth $1,250,000. The $1,200 was added to clinch the sale.

"And it may be a bargain," said Combs at the time. Nashua raced after that and earned another $343,150.

Michael J. Ford, who bought Kauai King for $42,000 at the 1964 Saratoga Yearling Sales, offered every syndicate member a chance to drop out following the King's breakdown in Chicago on June 23. For those who elect to remain each share will be cut to $60,0
